

Dear Parents/Carers,

21st June 2019

Head of School appointed for Enfield Heights Academy

I am delighted to be able to share with you the very good news that Jade-Simone Bacon, the current Deputy Headteacher, is the successful candidate for the new, senior position of Head of School at Enfield Heights.

Jade will take up her new role on 1st September 2019.

Since the school joined the Trust in 2014, it has shared a headteacher with Kingfisher Hall Academy. With the growth of Enfield Heights however, we felt that the time was right to appoint someone with responsibility for the academic leadership and effective management of the school on a day to day basis.

As I explained when I wrote to you in May, the Head of School will have responsibility for devising and agreeing the school improvement plan, allocating resources, managing staff and leading on the development of the national curriculum at Enfield Heights.

Jade will attend meetings of the Trust's regular headteachers group. Matt Clifford will work closely with Jade to set the overall strategic direction of the school.

Mrs Bacon has asked me to pass on the following message to you:

"I am so excited to be Enfield Heights Academy's Head of School. I already love being part of our school's community and am looking forward to continuing to working with you all to have a school that we can all be proud of and where our children can feel safe, happy and excited to learn."

The interview panel felt Jade was an outstanding candidate. She is passionate about ensuring the school provides the children with the very best possible education. She also impressed us with her plans to work in close partnership with our parents.

Yours faithfully,

Marino Charalambous

Chief Executive Officer
