

10th December 2025

Dear Parents and Carers,

We are delighted to share some wonderful news with you. The Sunday Times Parent Power Guide for 2026 has unveiled its definitive rankings of the United Kingdom's top-performing schools. The guide, published on Friday 5 December 2025 (Best schools 2026: Primary | The Times and The Sunday Times), assesses schools based on their academic performance and Enfield Heights Academy has been recognised as one of the top 1,000 primary schools in the country.

We are proud to share that we have been placed 566th out of more than 21,000 primary schools nationally and among over 5 million primary-aged children. This remarkable achievement places our school within the top 2% of all primary schools in the entire country.

This recognition is a testament to the hard work, dedication, and enthusiasm shown by our pupils, staff, and wider school community. Being included in this prestigious list highlights not only the high standards of teaching and learning at our school, but also the supportive and caring environment that makes our community so special. We are incredibly proud of our children, whose curiosity, resilience, and positive attitudes make achievements like this possible.

We would also like to extend our heartfelt thanks to you—our families. Your ongoing support, encouragement, and partnership play a vital role in helping us create a place where every child can thrive.

While we are thrilled to receive this national recognition, we remain committed to continually improving and ensuring that every child receives the very best educational experience.

Thank you for being part of our success and for everything you do to support the school.

With warmest wishes,

Mrs Powrie
Headteacher
